Tech Info Library

Zapf Chancery Font: Why It Doesn't Print Bold or Italic

```
Revised:        5/17/89
Security:       Everyone
```

Zapf Chancery Font: Why It Doesn't Print Bold or Italic

===

This article last reviewed: 9 February 1988

Although you can produce italic and bold characters on the screen with the Zapf Chancery font, when you print them they'll seem to be plain.

Actually, plain Zapf Chancery is italic to start with and it has no bold style. Observe the delicate and precise curves of the normal style of Zapf Chancery: making it bold would fill in most of the open areas on the smaller sizes.

Copyright 1988 Apple Computer, Inc.

Tech Info Library Article Number:2517