Tech Info Library

AppleWorks: Modifying For Single Keystroke Operation

```
Revised:        1/19/93
Security:       Everyone
```

AppleWorks: Modifying For Single Keystroke Operation

===

Article Created: 31 March 1988

Article Change History

1/19/93 - UPDATED
          • Beagle Brothers now WordPerfect Corporation.
03/8/88 - REVIEWED
          • For accuracy.

If you wish to modify AppleWorks by combining multiple-keystroke operations into one keystroke (an important modification for disabled users), you may be interested in two products from WordPerfect Corporation (formerly Beagle Brothers, Inc.):

- Macroworks, for AppleWorks 1.3 or earlier
- SuperMacroWorks, for AppleWorks 2.0

If you need to modify something other than AppleWorks, check the AppleLink database under the Technical Support icon. Preface your query string with 'sped' -- this will access the information on third party materials posted by Apple's Office of Special Education.

To locate a vendor's address or phone numbers, use the vendor name as a search string.

Copyright 1988, 1993, Apple Computer, Inc.

Tech Info Library Article Number:2750