Use MacLink Plus 3.X With Wang VS Release 7

=====================================================================

This article last reviewed: 13 October 1989

TOPIC -----------------------------------------------

I am using MacLink Plus/Wang VS 2.02 to connect the Macintosh to a Wang VS model 15 running the VS release 7 operating system for terminal emulation using direct cable to an ADC port.  When connection is established, I get the logon VS screen--but that's all.  The characters entered for userid and password don't seem to be accepted by the VS; the Macintosh beeps with each keystroke.

DISCUSSION ----------------------------------------

We talked with DataViz Technical Support, and they confirmed that versions of MacLink Plus prior to version 3 do not work properly with VS release 7. They suggested that you should upgrade to the latest version which is 3.06.
According to DataViz, they currently have a free upgrade program in place.

For more in-depth support on their product, we suggest you contact them directly.  For more their addresses and numbers, search the Tech Info Library
