Tech Info Library

Grimes Security Kit: Macintosh LC Requires Two Loops

```
Revised:        9/19/91
Security:       Everyone
```

Grimes Security Kit: Macintosh LC Requires Two Loops

===

```
Article Created: 13 August 1991
Article Last Reviewed:
Article Last Updated:
```

TOPIC ---

Here in Sweden, we sell a Grimes Universal Security Kit. It's supposed to fit all Macintosh computers, but it doesn't cover both the Macintosh LC and its keyboard because the kit includes only one loop. Can we get a second loop separately?

DISCUSSION --

Grimes is in the process of repackaging their security product. The current kit contains one keyboard loop. To use the product on a Macintosh LC, you need two loops. Contact Grimes for additional loops.

You can find the address and phone number for Grimes, Inc. in a separate article in the Tech Info Library.

Tech Info Library Article Number:8549