System 7: MacroMaker Is Not Supported

TOPIC -----

In the compatibility listing I have for system software version 7.0, it says that MacroMaker is "unnecessary". This seems to indicate that System 7 somehow does macros, but I can't find anything on this in the manuals.

DISCUSSION -----

"Unnecessary" was a poor word choice. It should have stated that MacroMaker was "not compatible". MacroMaker is not supported in version 7.0, and there are no plans to revise it for version 7.0 compatibility.

There are several third-party macro products that are compatible with version 7.0, including QuicKeys 2 by CE Software.

For more information, search on CE Software.
